NWNODN Educators Away Day
24th April 2025

DON'T MISS OUT!

Reminder

We are hosting our NWNODN Educators Day on Thursday 24th April 2025
Scan the QR Code above to register your place.

The Cambridge Newborn Research Network are conducting a project looking at management strategies for hyperglycaemia across UK neonatal units. They are working with N3, BAPM, and Neonatal societies to disseminate our survey.

Your responses will help to further their knowledge base and guide future research in hyperglycaemia management for our sickest and smallest babies. Please if you would complete a short (15 mins) anonymised survey regarding you and your unit's practice.

The first of the NHSE funded Pre-QIS training sessions took place at Blackpool NNU last week. The 4 learners had an enjoyable day working through lots of tasks and a scenario to build their knowledge and confidence as they navigate the challenge of becoming a fully qualified neonatal nurse. Dates are in the diary for 19 other units and will be running throughout April & May. If you still need to sort out session 1 at your unit, please contact your allocated trainers as soon as possible.

Are you a Neonatal Nurse, AHP or Midwife who has worked with in Neonatal Care for less than 2 years?

If so, then you are invited to attend one of our FREE Community of Practice events, with lunch provided. This is an informal training session, run in conjunction with the MatNeo team, which will provide the opportunity to learn from colleagues and share good practice. A couple of parents will be joining us, and the focus of the session will be:

- Optimising perinatal care
- Communicating with colleagues, MDT & families
- Working within scope of practice
- Effective handover of care
- Record keeping & data recording

These sessions are being run as part of the Pre-QIS project. If your Trust is unable to give you the time to attend, you are still welcome and can book a place directly with us. Both sessions are the same so please only book on one. These were originally being run by locality, but as there are places available, they have now been opened up so anyone from the region can attend.
